The opening chorus begins with a figure in long notes reminiscent of a simple psalm tone. This monumental chorus is followed by three arias.

Handel himself, when reusing material from the Cannons Anthems in larger works. Written for the same vocal and instrumental forces as As pants the hart it calls for extensive florid singing from the tenor. Please use the dropdown buttons to set your preferred options, or use the checkbox to accept the defaults. Handel did not explicitly designate this to a solo voice, almost certainly because he had only one tenor singer for the initial performance at Cannons.

He is first documented at Cannon on 4 August and probably remained there more. The first eight anthems were written in pairs, each containing one celebratory and one penitential work. The entire movement, somewhat rewritten, was used in the Chapel Royal Anthem HWVb and from there was borrowed to form the final chorus of Belshazzar.
