This report uses recent economic modelling to relate cognitive skills – as measured by PISA and other international instruments – to economic growth, demonstrating that relatively small improvements to labour force skills can largely impact the future wellbeing of a nation. This publication provides a range of comparable, crossnational education indicators for 19 middleincome nonOECD countries comprising over 50 per cent of the world population. Thisreportusesrecenteconomicmodellingtonorelatecognitiveskills–asme examines growth at the macroeconomic level, industry level and firm level and also analyses the contribution of information technology IT at each of these levels.
