It was arranged for piano, piano four-hands, chamber orchestra and small orchestra. The following studies would continue to explore varied meters and tempos.

Nancarrow's Studies for Player Piano were restarted when Nancarrow himself was in Mexico City. Nancarrow also created other similar compositions for player piano, including Para Yoko Spanish: It is a study of repeated and rapid runs and chordal motifs, superimposed over two ostinato rhythmic and melodic lines in the bass at tempos 5: The following studies would continue to explore varied meters and tempos. It was first performed together with the first three studies in Mexico City on 30 July and has been arranged for a Marantz computer-piano, chamber orchestra, piano four-hands, two pianos and two disc-pianos.
