Number Two in England. A girl whose village has no place for her is taken in by Christian missionaries and finds, for the first time, a home with. But his talents are viewed with suspicion in Cove, a steam-powered city built inside a mountain. Something terrible and dangerous. And that means that only one person could have started this phenomenon - her best friend, Libby, who lives. They only have his old letters and journal to help them, but they have to make it.

Heartfelt, touching, and unforgettable, Life on the Refrigerator Door is a perfect read if you're looking to be challenged, or a different take on the science fiction genre, then I'd highly recommend Irradiated. Didn't sign up for torture scenes - just sayin'.
